

Bread-Board Connectivity

Bread-board provides an easy way of connecting two components together. In the picture below, pin holes in each group are connected to each other (i.e. common) but they are NOT connected to any adjacent group.

The connectivity is evident from the bottom side of the bread-board which shows stripes of metal that are isolated from each other.

